THE PENDLETON CLUB.

The Pendleton Democratic Club held its regular monthly meeting on last Saturday President J. B. Sitton called the meeting which was a large one, to order, and intro duced as the Speaker for the occasion Coi. R. W. Simpson, of whose remarks the following, is a synopsis:

I oppear before you to-day, Mr. Presiden and gentlemen, for no selfish purpose-not expecting to again be a candidate for any office. I have no motives in what I am course is ruineus to the party, and will surely work its disruption. Fair and honnot to bring reproach upon the whole Democratic party, because the Legislature may have passed acts which you cannot approve. Rather visit your wrath upon the Representatives who were instrumental in passing the objectionable laws. If I have done wrong, or any other of your Representa tives have done wrong, blame the party so doing, but for God's sake blame not that political party to which we all belong, and persons desiring to have a voice in the se-lection of officers should join some one of one year ago to such a glorious victory—a under whose banner we marched last fall victory fought with such momentous results to every men, woman and child in this our

> We frequently hear it said by men of intelligence that they long to see the Legislature return to the modes in open, ion before nothing but a lack of thought. Consider what a tremendous and overwiselining revo-lution through which we have but recently passed. When reconstruction was completed our Constitution and our laws were overturned, and almost every vestige of fundamental law existing before the war was swept away, and a new Constitution and new laws instituted in their stead, emter and malignant hatred of our opponents for the purpose of the perpetual subjugation of the white people, what could we do? The Constitution we were sworn to support, and yet it hung like a pall over the paralyzed industries of the State, and turn which way we might, it stood ever ready to vex State who could tell what the law was. Besides, the debts of the State were in such confusion it seemed hopeless to attempt to rectify them. The bonded debt, of which we know nothing, the floating debt, believed to be millions, the deficiencies of previous Legislatures, which 'y the constitution we were bound to pavide for, the contingent debt, amounting to many millions, and the bills of the Bank of the State, amounting to a million or more, all were clamoring for recognition, and were so bound up with contracts and Supreme Court decisions, obtained under Radical rule-but which was law, nevertheless-i seemed impossible to adjust them, so as to give satisfaction to any one. Another result of the war I would call your especial attention to: The Radical party is the party of centralizatic, and so long as it remains in power this State can-not legislate independently, and as if there was no national government. In fact, our every act is closely watched, and if we are not circumspect Radical politicians at the North will make use of our blunders to inflame the minds of their people so as to continue in power the Radical party; and so long as this is the case we can never be in are helping and advising them, and all the truth a free and happy people.

Now, with these explanations, let us compare the Legislature recently adjourned with thing, then, that is dear to us depends upon The ladies and gentlemen of Anderson the way they did things in ante-bellum the next campaign, and there should be no who attended the Oratorio Concert, given the way they did things in ante-bellum the next campaign, and there should be no helting on the part of any.

Two mills of upon our wives, daughters, ourselves, our dered with such taste and excellence, that it would be injustice to go into detail without commenting upon every piect. The ladies and gentlemen acquitted themselves in the most handsome manner, and gave a ante-bellum debt, and it will take $360,000 upon us these woes. I have myself heard processed and selected to the school purposes. Two miles of the people of the people of the people of the condidate of the people of the condidate. I have myself heard to pay the interest on it, if found to be just men say they would vote for an indepenpractical and efficient illustration of Prof. to pay the interest on it, if found to be just Evans' accomplishments as an instructor in and legal. This is 3 mills more, but not dent, but I must believe that it was said quite this amount was levied-say 2 millsfor interest on a debt which was not of our contraction. These two items for which so act when the imaginary wrong has been the Legislature was not responsible amount to 4 mills. Now, take the 4 mills from the 6} mills, and there is left 24 mills tax for State purposes for which we were alone responsible. Two and a half mills amount to $300,000; to this add the $100,000 received from phosphate royalties, and we have $400,000. But only $300,000 of this is collected from the people. Again, we contracted no debts of any description. I think the action of the Legislature in the matter any Legislature, ante-bellum or otherwise Compare our work with Radical Legislatures, and see what the Democratic party has done for the State. The amount saved to the tax-payers annually by comparing the expenses of the Democratic Legislatures with the expenses of Radical Legislatures amounts to nearly $2,000,000. As large as this amount may seem to be, I am ready to prove it if necessary. Suppose $2,000,000 were reduced to silver; it would a nount to about twenty-six tons in weight, and it would take twenty-six teams, each hauling 2,000 pounds, to carry the stealings of these Radical rogues for one year. I think we have cause to rejoice, and determine that never again in the future shall the affairs of the State fall into Radical hands.

coughed once this morning.

In the last issue of the INTELLIGENCER I

I will endeavor now to explain some of the acts of the Legislature, against which objections have been raised. The Press and people clamored for the Legislature to adourn. There may have been more speak ing than was necessary, but we were travel-ing over an unknown track, we had no experience or precedents to guide us, and upon our actions depended the happiness and welfare of all the people It behooved us, then, to walk with care and discretion I will here state as my deliberate judgment. that if the Legislature could have remained in session five months longer, it would have been the best investment the State could have made, and before the year is out the reasons why will be seen. A good deal has been said about our per diem; that we reduced all other officers' pay, but would not reduce our own. For the first regular session, and the special session following, we were entitled to $1200, as the law then stood, but for both sessions we only took $400 and one mileage, instead of two. Right here let me state a fact: The constitution and the laws both entitled the members to this amount, $1200, and to every member desiring to claim it, it was a vested right. To pay such an amount was preposterous, but how to get around doing so was the question. I was sent as a sub-committee to confer with Gov. Hampton, Lieut-Governor Simpson, Speaker Wallace and Attorney General Conner on the subject. They all admitted there was no way out of the diff. sion, and the special session following, we admitted there was no way out of the difficulty, but it was agreed to take the bull by the horus and refuse to pay any but the $400, and not to pay that unless the members would give the State a clear receipt. There was another difficulty. The Senate had a Radical majority, and could defeat our appropriation bill if we did not pay them, and thus defeat the Hampton government in its inciplency. After that the pay was fixed at $5 per day, and it was thought that the session would last thirty or forty days, which would entitle each member to $150 or $200, instead of $600, culty, but it was agreed to take the bull by office. I have no motives in what I am about to say, other than to advance the interest and maintain the integrity of that creat Democratic party which defeat Red creat Democratic party which defeat Red that a crowded house awaits them.

We would call attention to the law card of Hon. J. P. Reed, which appears in this issue. Judge Reed's long standing and in South Carolina once more a pure and his work and home even for that amount. honest government. The Press and many I am a poor man, dependent like most individuals have, without stint, criticised others upon my labor and attention for a individuals have, without stint, criticised the actions of the last Legislature, and have forgotten when so criticising to tell of the real good actions performed, or to explain those acts which need explanation. Such a sife and children demand that I give up rience as Solicitor and as Circuit Judge forgotten when so criticising to tell of the places him among the first attorneys of the such a life. So it will be with others. A legislative life is not now a holiday life, as est criticisms are right and proper, but such it once was; and as for the honor, there is not much in putting one's self up as a target for every malicious shaft. Instead, however, of not reducing our own pay, we did reduce it more than that of any officer in the State. The fence law has excited a great deal of bitterness, and this one and that one has been blamed. The fence law was introduced by Senator Cochran. The Anderson delegation, while they were each one in favor of the law, were opposed to bringing it up at this time. They were in favor of postponing it to such day as would not endanger our organization. Especially were they in favor of this policy, as they believed it was introduced for the purpose of dividing our people, for we knew nothing could so well accomplish such a result as this the war. I can ascribe such remarks to sweeping revolution. But such a pressure was brought to bear upon us by the people of the County, that we believed it to be our duty to assist in passing such a law; and we believed, further, that as the matter had gone so far more harm would be inflicted upon the party not to pass the law than to pass it. The first law was the very best that could be obtained. After the eleven townships had adopted the "no fence," the five other townships petitioned the Legislature to extend the law to them also, upon the ground that they were opposed to the township system. These petitions were signed by a majority of all the people in these townships, except in Brushy Creek. With such petitions we would have been recreant to our duty not to so amend the law. But the time at which the law should go into operation in these five Townships was the question. The delegaway we might, it stood ever ready to vex us. The laws were purposely in such a tangle. There was not a lawyer in the rance, I was opposed to its immediate operation. ration, because when the law did go into operation, I wished it to be as unanimous as possible.

NII. At the close of the Election the Managers shall canvass the votes, ascertain the number cast for the several candidates, and shall certify to the Commissioners the result of said Election; and the Chairman of the Board of Managers, or one of them, who may be designated by the Board, shall deliver to the Commissioners of Election the poil list and all papers pertaining to the Election on the Monday following said Election by 11 o'clock a. m.

VIII. The following are appointed Commissioners of Election, to wit: Of the First Regiment, Captains Joseph B. Moore and E. M. Sanders and Lieut, F. K. Breazeale, Of the Sesond Regiment, Captains C. B. Gilmer and J. L. Bryan and Lieutenant A. N. Sanders, who will meet at Anderson C. H. and organize their several Boards on Monday following said Eelection, before 12 o'clock a. m., and receive from the several Managers the results of their polls, and their poll lists and all papers pertaining to the Election, and proceed forthwith to count the votes and deliver, under oath, their reports to Brigadier General for transmission to the Adjutant and Inspector General's office.

By command of Brigadier General W. W. We are now, Mr. President, about entering upon another campaign, the importance of which cannot be realized. The Radical party is trying by every means in their power to make us believe their party is dead and gone to pieces. They know that so long as radical rule threatens us local issues cannot divide; and they know, too, that unless divisions in our ranks can be effected, their party is powerless. They care but little for the next election, except to try and gain possession of the Legislature, and while they are lulling us to sleep by nominating no State ticket, they are organizing to ac-complish this purpose. But their main object is to get the Democratic party split into factions during the coming election, so that they can walk over the track at the next Presidential election. Experience has taught them that if our people once split and divide, they cannot easily be brought
